Forum Data Summary

Nearly 4,000 people attended the 53 forums held across Pennsylvania in the summer of 1999, an average of approximately 73 people per forum. One or more staff members from the Governor's Center for Local Government Services recorded citizen comments on flip charts while another staff person took notes. Following the forums, both the flip charts and the recorders' notes were used to compile and catalog the thousands of individual comments from the forums. In addition, the Center received written comments both at and following the forums, which were added to the record. Each person's comments were assigned to one or more of 300 categories in a database, and a count of the number of comments for each of the 300 categories was kept for each forum. Following the initial grouping of 300, the categories were combined to yield a total of 61 final categories. Table A2 in this appendix presents these categories and their rankings.

The most highly-attended Land Use Forums included residents from Berks and Bucks Counties, Chester County, Dauphin and Delaware Counties, Lancaster, Lehigh and Lycoming Counties, Monroe and Montgomery Counties, and York County, each with at least 100 participants. Table A1 in this appendix presents the data on when the forums took place and the number of attendees at each forum.

Organization of Data

A summary of the forum data is presented in Appendix B. The data is a collection of the comments of those who attended the forums or offered written comment, and do not represent a statistically valid survey of Pennsylvanians' opinions. Some subjectivity was involved in determining the categories and placing comments in specific categories. Moreover, although every reasonable attempt was made to include every speaker's comments, a minimal number of comments may have been lost in the process or recorded twice. Nevertheless, the rankings provide a fairly accurate picture of the most important issues that were on the minds of people who attended forums.

Overall Perspective

It would be easy to over-interpret the meaning of the various rankings presented here in an attempt to prove one's point-of-view. It might also be easy to under-emphasize the significance of these forums and the comments provided there. Regardless of one's perspective on any of the issues raised at the forums, one fact cannot be disputed: the citizens of Pennsylvania have never before been asked to come to so many local meetings and express their concerns and ideas about the future of their community and state. It would be foolish to ignore what has been said. Given the number of participants, there should be little doubt that the topics that appear at the top of the rankings are important to a large number of Pennsylvanians. ■
